The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(a). The drawings must show every feature of the invention specified in the claims. Therefore, the "round, rectangular or polygonal" tubes of claim 5, the "rounded transition region" of claim 6, and the "fins or turbulence generators" of claim 7 must be shown or the feature(s) canceled from the claim(s). No new matter should be entered.

Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as "amended." If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either "Replacement Sheet" or "New Sheet" pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claims 4, 6, and 14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Regarding claims 4 and 6, the phrase "preferably" and "in particular" renders the claims indefinite because it is unclear whether the limitation(s) following the phrase are part of the claimed invention. See MPEP § 2173.05(d).

Claim 14 provides for the use of the heat exchanger of claim 1, but, since the claim does not set forth any steps involved in the method/process, it is unclear what method/process applicant is intending to encompass. A claim is indefinite where it merely recites a use without any active, positive steps delimiting how this use is actually practiced.

Claim 14 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed recitation of a use, without setting forth any steps involved in the process, results in an improper definition of a process, i.e., results in a claim which is not a proper process claim under 35 U.S.C. 101. See for example Ex parte Dunki, 153 USPQ 678 (Bd.App. 1967) and Clinical Products, Ltd. v. Brenner, 255 F. Supp. 131, 149 USPQ 475 (D.D.C. 1966).

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

Art Unit: 3744

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-6 and 8-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Nakagome et al.

The term "integral" as used in the claims is deemed to encompass any means of rigidly attaching parts together, such as welding¹. Nakagome et al. show tubes that are joined to tube sheets via laser welding, making them "integrally" formed within a reasonably broad definition of the term.

Regarding claim 3, as shown in Fig. 8, Nakagome et al. teach assembling additional components using welding.

Regarding claim 4, recitations concerning the intended method of making the device are not entitled to weight where there appears to be no structural distinction resulting from the intended method of making. See In re Dike*, 157 U.S.P.Q. 581.

Similarly, regarding claims 11-13, the fluids applicant intends to flow through the claimed device in use also cannot patentably distinguish an otherwise known structure. See MPEP 2114, 2115.

Regarding claim 6, see Figs. 3 and 7 of Nakagome et al.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

Art Unit: 3744

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 7 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Nakagome et al.

The use of fins and/or turbulators in association with heat exchanger tubes is of such notorious character in the art that citation of a reference to such effect is not deemed necessary. In re Malcolm, 54 U.S.P.Q. 235. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the instant invention was made to provide any of these features in or on the tubes of Nakagome et al.

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Reider teaches the forming of tube sheets and tubes via extrusion forming. The remaining references show tube in shell exchangers, or tube to sheet joints employing welding.

Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Allen J. Flanigan whose telephone
